No. 1475—Sixth Year. BUENOS AYRES, THURSDAY, JANUARY 10, 1867. Circulation 2500

MAUA BANK,

CALLE CANGALLO, Nos 101—103

The Offices of this Bank having been removed to the above spacious building, in order to suit the increasing flow of business, the public is informed that the following transactions are carried on in currency and specie in this Bank:—

First—Bills and obligations with good signatures are discounted on conventional terms.

Second—Money is advanced on mercantile and other securities approved of by the Manager.

Third—Accounts current are opened with Merchants or other parties who may prefer depositing endorsed and transferable securities, against which they may draw up to an amount previously convened under conditions established for such class of operations.

Fourth—Money is received in account current, bearing interest from day of deposit, which is accumulated in favor of the parties every three months, the depositors being allowed to retire at any time, by means of checques, part or the full amount at their wish, save when the quantity exceeds three hundred doubloons or one hundred thousand dollars currency, in which case forty-eight hours' previous notice is required to be given at the Treasury of the Bank.

Fifth—Bills or letters of credit are drawn and taken on Montevideo, Rosario, Sta Fé, Salto Oriental, Paysandu, Rio Janeiro, and other places in the Brazils, England and France, as also on other places, of which notice will be given hereafter.

Finally, the Bank undertakes and executes all legitimate transactions within the orbit of banking operations.

The establishment is always open from 9 a.m. till 3 p.m.

Co.'s Office, 118 Calle Piedad, altos.

The Company insures on equitable terms, and at a fixed premium, every description of property. The Company is solely and exclusively responsible for losses occasioned by fire which may be suffered by insured parties.

The Insurance may be effected for periods ranging from one month to ten years. The total premium is payable in advance, in cases where the Insurance is effected for a term of one year or less; and annually where the term exceeds one year. In terms of from 5 to 10 years, payment in advance of 5 years premium, entitles the Insured to the reimbursement of one year's premium: or in other words the Company will only charge the premium corresponding to four years.

Payment in advance of ten year's premium entitles the Insured to the reimbursement of two year's premium; with a further abatement of 10 p. cent: on the premium corresponding to the term of eight years: that is he will only be charged with the amount of eight year's premiums—less 10 p. cent.

The Company furnishes guarantees of the highest character, from the fact of there being no other Fire Insurance Company, at a fixed premium, having its head residence in the Argentine Republic; and also from the circumstance of large capital.

The Company's funds are deposited in the Provincial Bank.

Further particulars will be furnished on application at the Company's Offices. 93 xp n15

THURSDAY, JANUARY 10, 1867.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

Yesterday morning we received a telegraphic despatch announcing the arrival of the Galileo from Rio. It is supposed she has the packet news on board, but up to the time of sending the telegram nothing was on shore.

An English gentleman who has seen some parties from San Juan states that all the mails sent from Buenos Ayres have been seized by the 'montoneras;' whilst, on the con rary, all the diligences have duly arr ed and the letters been delivered.

We hear that Minister Octaviano, on the occasion of the departure of Baron Tamandaré, gave a magnificent banquet in Montevideo. All the haut ton of Montevideo was there. At the conclusion the Apa got up steam and left for Rio: the Nitheroy has gone to accompany the Apa.

On Tuesday, one of the oldest Spanish residents in this city, Dn. Pepe Ramon, was taken to his last home. He was a man deservedly esteemed and respected by all who knew him, and a resident in this city for over 60 years. He knew almost the city since its birth, and could tell the name of the owner of every azotea house in town. He leaves a wide circle of friends to lament his loss.

We learn with pleasure that the National Government has at last come to a determination respecting the Frayle Muerto colonists, and has agreed to arm, mount, maintain, and keep a force of 50 men for three years. The fort will be under the charge of Captain Wehren. The preliminary expenses, amounting to about 20,000 pats., have to be raised by subscription, as the Government has no spare money at present. We understand several parties in Rosario have already subscribed liberally, and an appeal to the merchants here will not be made in vain.

Hermann, at latest dates, was at Rosario, where, we believe, he gives three or four performances previous to going up the Uruguay.

We notice that our colleagues all publish now the order to the ships and vessels at Curuzu to go down the river. This news we gave our readers nearly a week ago. The belief is that it indicates an immediate move up by the Brazilian squadron, but our correspondent assigns far different motives for this order, being, he says, to prevent smuggling, as the Paraguayans on dark nights steal down the river in noiseless canoes.

It is really extraordinary how events of the very highest importance escape in toto the attention of our colleagues. The ascension of the balloon, we expected, would be delineated in the very fullest manner by the graphic pen of Antar; then again, the extraordinary coincidence of a stiff gale of wind blowing two Italian boats, laden with bombs and ammunition, up the Paraguayan river into Lopez's very hands: save the Standard, not a paper in town has published the affair. Matos is the only attempt at a correspondent at headquarters, now Sinbad is sick; Marryatt writes too stiff, Falstaff seems to have given over writing, and Antar, who sighs for literary renown, appears to succumb under 113 in the shade; a smart active correspondent who would make it his business to attend all such things as balloon inaugurations, reviews, etc., might make a very handsome thing of it by writing for the newspapers.

Rev. Mr. Smith, the Scotch pastor, has just returned from a trip to Arrecifes. He preached on his way back at Mr. Archy Craig's, and visited all the Scotch farmers to the north. Mr. Smith's very active zeal in behalf of all his parishioners and congregation merits our most special praise, as the worthy gentleman is really most indefatigable in his labors.

Commander Linares is the name of the officer who, with the Government troops at his command, is marching to fight Varela: Linares has only about 250 men, but all well armed and accoutred.

The Legislature, since the passing of the Exchange-office Bill, has been very slow in meeting, although the patent law, the budget, and the land law have to be passed yet. We still cling to the hope that the monstrous patent law will be rejected in toto; it is the most impolitic measure ever attempted, and if carried out will ruin half the shopkeepers in town.

An Italian committed suicide on Tuesday in calle Libertad, near the Cinco Esquinas: he knelt down in the middle of the street, and blew his brains out with a pistol. The police are busy trying to discover the motive for so strange a proceeding.

Our French colleague says that a negro attempted to kill the station-master of the Southern terminus at Plaza Constitucion on Sunday evening: he was disarmed after much difficulty, and Mr. Corrales had a narrow escape.

The Republica states that a fight occurred among some foreign sailors on the mole, and knives were drawn; a man who rushed in to separate the combatants was within an inch of being killed. Happily no one was hurt.

Stealing the clothes of bathers on the mole-head is now a daily occurrence, and the police are much wanted for the protection of property in that quarter.

We are glad to to notice that several Englishmen, Argentines, and Germans have subscribed liberally for relief of the French sufferers in Algiers: the following names occur in the list—$ mlc.

Henry Solanet.....	15000
Michael Duggan.....	500

The first and second numbers of the weekly paper "Invalido Argentino" have appeared: it is well got up, and the proceeds will be given to the invalids. We cordially salute our colleague and wish him every success.

Mr. Posadas sends to-morrow 7 more boxes of goods for the Paris Exhibition.

The Republica, apropos of the city-police, says:—"Assassinations are now frequent, and the criminals are left at large: the most daring robberies occur daily, and the brigands walk our streets publicly, laughing at the police and Commissaries. The police is a mute spectator of numberless outrages, and thieves are now multiplying fast in our city."

The lightermen are all most indignant with us for the article we published the other day. One lighterman has thought proper to send us a small note, with merely the following words—"El zapatero a los zapatos," meaning, we suppose, an allusion to the adage "Nec sutor ultra crepidam." The lightermen have no cause to complain, for really it is high time that some reform should be introduced.

As to the constant question about peace, we can say nothing. But we hear that the man who made the balloon for Brazilians is a Paraguayan, and not a Frenchman, and has been identified by some Paraguayans who have crossed over; he has made several balloons for Lopez already.

The Inspector-general of the militia is now very actively employed looking up those drawn for service at the last drawing, but it is by no means an easy task, as many have gone off to the country.

According to latest dates from the Interior the revolutianary leader Varela, has posted a lot of 'gauchos' on the roads in San Juan to intercept all despatches. He has pitched his camp at a place called Santa Rosa, which commands the high road to Copiapo. All doubts as to the complicity of Chile seem now to be removed. Money, arms, and ammunition, are crossing the Cordillera for the rebels, and we greatly fear for our friend, Major Rickard, and his silver mines. We have heard nothing whatever from Mr. Klaffenback; but he is more out of the way of danger, and we do not think it probable will be molested. The rumors about a revolution in Tucuman are altogether destitute of foundation. Everything is quiet in that province.

We received news from Montevideo of the dangerous state of health of Octaviano and Napoleon. Tamandaré is at the Oriental in good spirits, and wears a very tall white hat. There are 30 men-of-war and six admirals in that port at present. Mendez Nunez is also stopping in the same hotel, but is very reserved.

We have been favored with tickets for the Inauguration of the Champs Elysées at Palermo, to take place last night. The proprietors publish a programme, comprising Cafe-chantant, concerts by 100 performers, fire-works, ballet company, kiosks, islands, bridges, warterfalls, jets d'eau, hippodrome, amphitheatre, labyrinth, wild beasts, flowers, shooting gallery, fencing-saloon, merry-go-rounds, Swiss cottages, aviaries, balloons, leger-de-main, tight-rope, gymnastics, French and Spanish after-pieces, polioramas, and dioramas of European and American scenery. Subscription 300$ per half-year. The works are not yet completed, but there is accomodation for carriages.

LATEST FROM EUROPE.

(By English mails.)

The Tribuna received yesterday the following telegram:

Montevideo, 9th January.
11.30 a.m.

The Galileo brings papers with news per English mail to Dec. 14th from Lisbon.

The Queen of Spain and court were received with great rejoicing at Lisbon, and lodged in the Belen palace.

Great reform-meeting in England: Fenian agitation in Ireland.

The French have all left Rome, and the Pope renews negotiations with Victor Emmanuel: an agent from the latter had arrived at Rome.

A new German Congress is to be called at Berlin, to make a Federal constitution.

Prince Humbert is to be married to an Austrian princess. Mazzini has published a letter to the Romans.

The Egyptian Parliament has been inaugurated.

Pres. Johnson has opened Congress at Washington, and declared he will continue in the same policy as heretofore: this caused great sensation: he stated that the Alabama question with England was being arranged.

The Republicans in Mexico have seized Oajaca, killing 600 imperialists. The report of the Emperor's speedy return to Europe is confirmed.

Interest at London 4; at Paris 3; at Hamburg 3½ per cent.

Two transports from Rio have arrived with 1300 men.

THE WAR IN THE NORTH.

LATEST FROM HEAD-QUARTERS.

There is really no news worth mentioning. Last week we shot another soldier of the 12th batt. of line: the priest who accompanied him made a kind of sermon about the consequences of a soldier deserting his flag in the face of the enemy. It is useless to shoot men every day for deserting; they still desert in numbers, although some of them are invariably caught in trying to cross over into the Chaco, or fall into the hands of the guards posted along the road to Itapirú.

Most of our officers are down in B. Ayres or at Corrientes, on sick-leave, mostly recovered, but continue walking about the streets in their uniforms, and saying openly that they will not return to the war. It is no wonder for the men to be discontented: the water in use here is quite putrid, and we have received no pay for the last 11 months.

On New Year's day we had a grand military Mass: the whole army assisted, under Gen. Emilio Mitre, and afterwards defiled before the President. The 1st Division is fully reinforced, and all its batts. in fighting order. The 2nd Division grows smaller day by day, the Nat. Guards for any offence being drafted into the troops of the Line. The New Year has been celebrated with numerous fetes and balls, and the bands paid a visit to the various Generals in their quarters.

Some days ago 4 men of the Martinez batt. and 3rd Division, who had fallen into the enemy's hands in the affair of July 18th, contrived to escape back to our lines, almost naked. The man with the balloon has been arrested by Caxias for having destroyed it: it seems the enemy use balloons, as we learn from one of their men, and it is even said that the fellow making the balloon for Caxias was a Paraguayan. We shot a man this morning for having murdered his corporal, asleep. At the execution when the flag was given him to kiss, although his hands were tied, he contrived to seize the flag, which prevented the soldiers firing at him: but at length it was torn from him, and he was then shot.

It is confidently asserted that the U. States Ministers at Rio and Buenos Ayres have presented proposals of peace both to the allies and Paraguay.

La Republica.

HEROES OF THE ALLIED ARMY.

PEN-AND-INK PHOTOGRAPHS.

1.—COL. PABLO DIAZ.

A very decent kind of man, but has his faults like everybody else. Sometimes he gets carried away by any tom-foolery, but in his cooler moments listens to reason. This is a constitutional, rather than an intellectual, debility. As to soldiering he is expert, not very profound in science, but he cannot be set down as an ignoramus. He is so suspicious that he is jealous of his own shadow, and fancies all his colleagues are continually trying to undermine him. His great aim is to be a General, and this might improve his morals and strengthen his wit: in fact he is sure of a General's grade before the allies reach Asuncion. His sword has always been on the side of Liberty, although he has been at times at loggerheads with his comrades. We should call him an honest man, and decidedly polite and obliging: he is an excellent husband and father, and does not sell his friends as is now the fashion. His first essay in arms was in Brazil, and he has always been a kind of staff-officer. Since the fall of Rosas he has been entrusted with many delicate little matters. He is hard-working, orderly, and courageous, but disliked in the army, and a very sycophant with all classes of newspaper correspondents. He at present holds the rank of Chief of Staff in the 2nd Army Corps.

2.—COL. CESAR DOMINGUEZ.

Commander of the 3rd Division of the 2nd Army Corps. He was formerly a Minister in the disgraceful Cabinet of Paraná, and is one of the few men whose reputation has survived the chaos that ensued after the battle of Pavon. He was Chief of Staff on the frontiers of Cordoba when the present war broke out, and received command of the contingents of San Juan, Cordoba, Mendoza, San Luis, and Entre Rios, with which he did good service at the Boqueron on July 18th, and which he continues to command, though quite broken-down in health. He ought to be a General. He is a native of San Juan, shabby and miserly in habits, very fond of his family, and far from a military genius. He was never known, like so many others, to sell his conscience for a frock-coat and a pair of white gloves.

3.—COL. JOSE MARIA BUSTILLOS.

Commander of the 1st. Division of the 2nd army-corps. He has always been regarded as an honest and unpretending man, and is much esteemed in the army. He is a man of fortune, and has undertaken the campaign with all its hardships merely for patriotism: patriots are very rare now-a-days. The Colonel is no soldier, in a military sense, but possesses some tact in commanding troops: he is attentive to his duties, and never grumbles about his superiors. None of his colleagues care for him, but none can be said to hate him. He has no pretensions to learning, but has a mediocre intellect. Endowed with a high sense of honor, he is neither envious of those around him, nor ambitious of popularity among the vulgar.

4.—COL. PEDRO JOSE AGUERO.

Accidental commander of the 2nd Division "Buenos Ayres" of the 2nd army-corps, a soldier of the old school, who began service in the war against Brazil, and has always been highly valued: he is one of the best Chiefs of Division in the army, valiant, attentive, and obedient to his superiors. He is skilled in military affairs, and very unobtrusive. At first they were jealous of him because he had served under Gen. Urquiza, but now everyone is convinced of his integrity. He is talkative, agreeable, well-read, and of moral habits: always jovial with his men, he does not put on a wry face to his subordinates, like so many others. He has rendered good service both before and during the present war. He is much devoted to discipline, and tries in vain to inspire his officers with a like feeling. He is of a retiring disposition, and will always be an honor to the army.

5.—COL. JULIO VEDIA.

Commander-in-chief of the artillery, a thorough gentleman and distinguished soldier, well-read, said to be very quarrelsome, of polite manners and sonorous voice, a dreamer, and worshipper of the abstract notions of justice and morality. Two things will force him to abandon the career; his devoted love for his family, and the disorganized state of our present discipline. He has always been a first-rate officer, but kept in the background, although brother-in-law to Pres. Mitre. He has very good ideas, and is respected by many, being of unblemished morality, but rather given to grumbling. He has a horror of newspapers and correspondents. As a public man he would be very useful in normal times, but is a nonentity in violent times like the present. He has too much heart.

6.—COL. JOSE M. ARREDONDO.

Chief of the 2nd Division of the 1st army-corps, a native of Banda Oriental, and one of our best officers: as brave as Gen. Rivas, but more phlegmatic and imperturbable. He has not so much fire to lead his men into action, but more confidence under reverses. He is a slow thinker, and poor speaker, but intelligent as any diplomatist. He is suitable for very difficult enterprises, and has made a rapid career, thanks to fortuitous circumstances. His mind is more disposed to hatred than gentler feelings, and his rancor like that of a Corsican, never dies out. He is not at all liked in the army, and is said to have succeeded Gen. Rivas as President of the Mutual Admiration Society, which meets every evening at the Naranjal: perhaps this is untrue. He is said to be unloyal to his friends, but we hardly credit it. He enjoys more reputation for honesty than is common among our officers, and also intelligent and patient.

7.—COL. ANTONIO SUSINI.

Commander of the 1st army-corps, formerly in command of the 4th Division; his old corps of Volunteers has been broken up, and the men drafted into other batts. He was made Colonel for his gallantry in the attack on Curupaity, and succeeded to the command of Rivas when the latter was made General. Although of imperfect education he would do well to command English troops: he is an Italian by birth, and a good father and husband. His enemies say that he is envious and troublesome: after the battle of May 24th, several commanders entered into machinations of an unworthy kind, and Col. Susini sent in his resignation; but a better feeling ensued with the subsequent events of the war, and Susini is now one of the best officers in the army. He is accused of unbridled ambition and unworthy manœuvres, but we know not how far this is true. Meantime we must consider him as an upright officer and good commander.

SHEEP-FARMING ECONOMIES.

THE ADAPTABILITY OF BREEDS TO OUR PASTURES, CLIMATE, AND REQUIREMENTS.

Under these heads may be ranged almost all that is needful to know of the principles which should determine the practice of the sheep-farmer; but I propose in the present communication only to touch briefly a few salient points of direct application to our circumstances.

Unfortunately for the country, and the sheep-farming interest in particular, there is scarcely to be found among those who follow this calling, even elementary knowledge of animal and vegetable economies; and this absence of knowledge has led to grave errors of practice, resulting in a state of things which could hardly be credited, and which has turned the brilliant prospect which this industry presented into an imminent danger, not of its extinction, but of the comparative ruin of numbers, from whose ashes, to use a figure, others may derive a light which it is to be hoped will guide to better and more rational things. Error was the base of our sheep-farming practice, error which 20 years ago was excusable by reason of attendant circumstances, and the brilliant results which attended the first steps directed to the improvement of the indigenous breed, (which at that time had scarcely greater value than the biscacho) carried out on lands which had a market value all but nominal, only confirmed error, and blinded all to the fact that circumstances and values would naturally change, and that in our practice it was necessary to anticipate such change.

All those who have treated the subject in writing (and they are but few), and those who have been accepted as practical guides, have erred in principle, and misled the practice of the masses.

Some years ago it was inculcated that our camps were inexhaustible, and the gradual fining of our grasses, a consequence of close feeding and compression, led to the belief that not only were the camps inexhaustible, but that the fining of the grasses was a benefit without limit. It did not occur to those who saw their camps change in nature of grass products that change was progressive, and that from strong hard grasses to fine and tender was but one step, and that the next would be, in the natural order of things, the extinction of grasses, nearly all of them being annuals, and the domination of weeds, thistles, and inferior herbage: our present case—the consequence of over-stocking. Now it is inculcated (see first number of "Anales," of the Rural Club) that our camps are poor, and incapable of maintaining sheep of vigor and generally productive habit; and this preaching assumes a certain plausibility for those who have not taken the trouble to reason on the subject, from its not being generally taken into account that our camps would return to productiveness by resting, by not being over-stocked; and from the fact that the sheep which were improved in wool and sweetness of meat, up to a certain point, have declined and are declining in yield of wool, in constitution, and physique. We see indeed those who were the pioneers of improvement in possession of flocks yielding wool of the finest, but of the least quantity per head, and of a quality really inferior, by reason of the absence of nature, length, strength, and elasticity, and that in carcase they are of the smallest and least productive. But this is the result of a naturally unthrifty and delicate class or type, exposed to bad treatment, erroneous systems of breeding, scant feeding by reason of over-stocking, not by default of quality of pastures. We have a class of sheep densely covering our camps, which are not realisable to other than small value for carcase and grease, and for which there is no equivalent demand for breeding purposes, consequently nearly all the increase of the past few years is dead loss, for it has deteriorated camps to an extent exceeding any value that could be got out of the animals, which under adverse circumstances or seasons die by hundreds of thousands from absolute debility and starvation; demonstrating, not that our camps are essentially poor, but that the sheep have been badly treated, and the camps over-stocked, and that those who abuse the abundance which Providence bestows must suffer for it.

I regret to see that one of the enlightened members of our club, and director of the 'Anales,' Dn. Eduardo Olivera, falls into the dangerous error of proclaiming that the natural poverty of our camps precludes the possibility of our rearing a good, useful, vigorous, fat-yielding class of sheep, and would have us believe that this presumed poverty of our pastures renders it necessary that we should be content to strive after wool as a primary object. I cannot conceive how he has so unfortunately fallen into this error, or rather how it is that he has not grown out of this prevailing one, and cast it off wholely and entirely. I am not, it is true, a native of the country, but my affection for it is well known, and proofs are not wanting that I have sought, and furthered its interests, to the best of my ability, and with a sincerity not exceeded by many or any in the country, and I now should belie my antecedents were I to allow such an erroneous teaching to pass unnoticed in the pages of the 'Anales' of the club of which I have the honor to be a member, as it is fraught with imminent danger to the well-being of the sheepfarming interest, 'par excellence' the interest of the country.

Now this matter of the capacity of our camps as sheep pastures, is one of primary importance, requiring to be well understood. Few have given that direct study and attention to the subject that I have done, and I unhesitatingly assert that in no part of the world are there vast tracts of pasture lands comparable, under a rational system of depasturing, &c., with those of the River Plate; and further, that under proper treatment the deteriorated lands can be restored to luxuriance; moreover, that there is no climate and pasturage so congenial to the production of wool in abundance, softness, strength, and texture, combined with well-developed carcase and fat-producing properties in the sheep. We have lands adapted for the main tenance, and, I may add, improvement, of all the best breeds of sheep, the different degrees of latitude, comprised in the wide extent of the Argentine and Uruguay Republics, affording grasses and climate, eminently suitable for the rearing of the different races or varieties of the sheep and goat.

The erroneous doctrine that any animal can maintain a high domestic value, commensurate with the intrinsic value of land, other than sterile tracts and mountain ranges, in virtue of one product, is now-a-days wholly exploded from the code of rural economy; to maintain three or five parts to 'aprovechar' only one, being manifestly a waste of material. One product of an animal can never give value for lands of natural richness, nor will natural richness compensate for a wasteful practise, and absence of forecast in the selection of animals fed on them.

Up to a certain point or period, notwithstanding the injudicious system of breeding sheep in this country, the whole of the animal was realisable, a fact which stands in contra of Don Eduardo Olivera's theory, that we must breed primarily for the wool, in asmuch as we have been breeding for the totality of the animal, because up to a recent date there was ready sale for the increase for breeding purposes, and that at prices far exceeding the value of the animals as wool and fat producers, and giving an excellent return for the capital invested in land, purchased at a comparatively low figure. Now, however, we are differently circumstanced, and few had foreseen that the rapid augmentation of numbers would, as a matter of course, soon outstrip any possible demand for breeding purposes. A few figures will exemplify my argument. When the stock of sheep was 1,000,000, it took three years for them to increase to 2,000,000, and 5 years to 4,000,000, and so on; and there was ample room for increase for many years, and consequently found to be good; all things went merrily, notwithstanding some sweeping losses, until we counted some twenty odd millions.

GEOLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS.

To the Editors of the Standard.

Gentlemen,

In the interesting article, dated from Cordova, in the Standard of this morning, respecting the geological formation of South America, it is stated that "the whole country around the Caspian and Dead Seas, shows, by marks upon the rocks and geological formations, that it was once blessed by abundant rains," and, it is continued, "what has caused this wonderful change? We turn to the other side of the globe for an answer. The upheaved mountain ranges have changed the current of the atmosphere, causing the rain which once fell upon those countries to be carried to distant parts of the earth's surface." With a view to the elucidation of the theory broached by your correspondent, will you permit me to trespass on your space for the purpose of laying before your correspondent and those who have read his letter, some remarks, the result of personal observation.

The shores of the Caspian Sea are, as a whole, very far from presenting the arid appearance which would be inferred from the passage I have quoted above; but, whilst on the eastern side is the bare desert of Khiva, the three remaining sides, which I have myself visited, present an aspect the very reverse of barren. On one occasion I rode for 120 miles along the shores of the Caspian, and experienced the greatest inconvenience from the exuberant vegetation caused by the superabundant supply of rain.

The theory, therefore, that the currents of the atmosphere have been diverted from certain regions by the upheaving of mountain ranges must be received with caution, since we find within the distance of between two and three hundred miles—the breadth of the Caspian Sea—the very opposite extremes of temperature and vegetation.

The explanation of this circumstance, in the case of the shores of the Caspian, at least, is, I think, to be traced to another origin. Whilst one side of the Caspian is watered by a succession of streams from the Ural to the Georgian, on the other side is to be found only the bare channel in which the Oxus once flowed, before the branch of that river going into the Sea of Azof had absorbed the whole stream. By the withdrawal of this fertiliser the vegetation of the region was thrown back, and cause and effect reacting on each other rain gradually ceased to fall.

That a climate, as regards its fall of rain, may be modified in a very short space of time, has been proved in the case of two provinces of India. In Scinde, before its conquest by the British, rain fell, as a general rule, once in three years; but since, by introducing a system of canals, we have been enabled to make large plantations, and to bring under cultivation what was formerly nearly a desert, there has been, as in the other provinces of India, an annual fall of rain. In Oude, on the other hand, since we have opened up great portions of what was formerly a dense forest, the annual fall is greatly diminished.

I should be much obliged if your correspondent would state at about what elevation are the structures in the Andes to which he refers as being "at a height where, on account of the rarified air, it would be impossible for men to work at the present day."

Yours obediently,

VIATOR.

COLONIZATION IN THE ARGENTINE REPUBLIC,

(From the Republica.)

The Argentine Confederation, with the territories of the Gran Chaco, Misiones, Pampas, and Patagonia, comprehends an area of 130,000 square leagues: it can support easily one thousand inhabitants per square league, which leads us to anticipate that in one or two centuries hence the country lying between the Andes and the Atlantic will be teeming with life and activity, and counting 130 million inhabitants.

At present how many human beings occupy this immense tract, including vagrants and savages? A million and a half! It is, therefore, clearly the first necessity of the country to introduce colonists, and this reminds us to mention the European colonies at present settled here.

Santa Fé is foremost of all the provinces, and boasts four flourishing colonies:

Esperanza.....	1700	souls
San Gerouimo.....	800	"
San Carlos.....	800	"
Helvetia.....	200	"
Chaco colonies.....	600	"

Next comes Entre-Rios, with 2 colonies.

San José.....	2280
Villa Colon.....	400

Buenos Ayres has 3 small colonies

Baradero, Swiss.....	900
Patagones.....	100
Chubut, Welsh.....	150

Even in the remote province of Salta, a colony of Bolivians and Argentines, numbering 500 souls, has been settled at Rivadavia, on the verge of the Gran Chaco. The other provinces are all equally adapted for colonies, some in agriculture, others in grazing, and a few in mining.

EXPENSIVE TELEGRAMS.

The River Plate Telegraph Co.,
Jan. 8, 1867.

To J. Hughes, Esq.,

Dear Sir,

I beg to draw your attention to an article in to-day's Argentina, which refers to a long message of yesterday's (400 words), and for which $1,025 was charged. I was speaking to Mr. Proudfoot this morning, and he suggested it would be better to show it to you, to see if it is worth answering. In the event of your considering it worth while, I beg to draw your attention to the following notes, which may be worth while to make use of in reply.

All staff and materials (including about the most costly cable ever manufactured) for the construction and maintenance of the telegraph had to be brought from Europe.

In France and Italy the telegraphs belong to the Governments, and are not worked for profit, and often do not pay expenses; coupled with this the cost for telegrams is more than double the prices quoted by the Argentina.

In England the telegraphs are worked by public companies, and even there, with a most extensive network of telegraphs, and railway facilities for maintaining them, the cost of a telegram from London to Holland is about the same as the cost from here to Montevideo.

It is unfair to expect a Company to construct a line of telegraph in this country, or to maintain and work it at anything like the cost it can be done in Europe,—equally as much so as it would be to compare $5, the price of a single copy of a first class daily paper here, with 4 rls., the cost of a first class daily paper of 8 pages in London; although it might be urged that in England papers have a larger circulation, but does not the same argument hold good with this telegraph, as it has to be supported by two stations only?

It is true we receive gratis copies of these papers, but that has been unsolicited by us since the raising of the tariff for the press. Of course, when we were supplying the press at the 75 per cent. reduction rate, we had a right to demand a copy, in order to see whether one paper made use of the telegrams which we might send to another. We paid for our advertisement last month $450.

Yours, &c.,

EDWD. FURZE.

NOTE.—We must remind Mr. Furze that the Standard is generally considered a first-class paper among his countrymen, and costs only $1 a day less than the price of the Times, Albion, or any first-class provincial paper in England. The success of the Standard is owing to "cheap prices," and we advise the Telegraph Co. to try the same principle.—ED. Standard.

ENGLISH COLLEGE, MONTEVIDEO.

To the Editors of the Standard.

Gentlemen,

Knowing well the interest you take in everything which concerns the prosperity of this country, I am induced to communicate to you a few facts relative to the above College, which till a few days ago had not come to my knowledge.

The fact that "labor conquers all things" was clearly instanced at the examinations which took place on the 20th and 21st ult.

Having heard much of the success of this College, and the complete satisfaction it has given to an enlightened public, I determined to see and hear for myself, and certainly no more favorable opportunity could have presented itself of enabling me to judge how far credit might be attached to the reports which had from time to time been circulated in the press. I visited the College previous to the hour designated for the examinations to commence, and was much struck with the arrangements made to render them attractive and interesting. Flags and flowers were used in profusion, but with evident good taste; in fact, everything in the College evinced the greatest regularity, and excited to no little degree the curiosity, not only of the pupils, but of the parents themselves.

During the examinations I was particularly struck with the facile readiness with which the pupils answered almost every question, evincing a most satisfactory knowledge of the different subjects which the collegiate course embraces, and fully manifesting the rapid progress made by the respective pupils, which was a clear proof of the diligence and anxiety with which Mr. Beard and his assistant had acquitted themselves of their duties.

I congratulate Mr. Beard on the success which has attended his efforts to establish an English college in this city; knowing well, as I do, the many difficulties which must be encountered and overcome before so satisfactory a state of things could have been accomplished.

It cannot but be gratifying to Mr. Beard to see his exertions in the cause of education so successful. It would be difficult to point to another educational establishment in Montevideo which has, during the short period of a year, taken so firm hold of an enlightened and disinterested public, who are fully alive to the importance of such an establishment, and have not been backward in giving public expression to their sentiments, thus awarding to Mr. Beard the recompense which he justly deserves.

The Tribuna of the 24th ult. says:—

"The English College, which scarcely counts a year of existence, is worthy of figuring among the first of our educational establishments.

Its Director, who came amongst us accompanied by a well acquired renown in the method which he adopted, in the materials which he selected, and in the choice of his teachers, has shown himself worthy of the confidence which the parents and guardians have placed in him from the first." The Siglo has something to the same effect: "We have not been surprised at the progress which the pupils have made during the year: more cannot be desired, and Mr. Beard and his worthy teachers have reason to rejoice for the important service they have rendered to the youth of the country, and to the country itself. The easy manner of expressing themselves, referring to the pupils, united to the exquisite pronunciation which the English idiom possesses, could not but satisfy us, and we urge with much earnestness parents and guardians to place their sons and children under their care, in the English College, where they are sure to receive an education that will benefit them in after life."

This public recognition of Mr. Beard's services, as well as those of his teachers, will, I am sure, stimulate them to yet greater exertions and renewed activity in the cause of education.

The examinations were attended by the most respectable and influential families in the city; among them was a goodly number of the fair sex.

The premiums, which consisted of medals and valuable books, were conferred on the most advanced and best conducted pupils by a very intelligent young lady, whose presence and personal attractions very much graced the ceremony.

AN OBSERVER.

RAILWAY SYMPATHISERS.

Buenos Ayres, Jan 8, 1867.

To the Editors of the Standard,

Gentlemen,

I leave you and the public to judge between Omega's letter of to-day and the, according to him, inane and vacuous productions which I have addressed to you. Surely something more than an "itch for writing" must have prompted his rambling incubration.

I wrote an account of a matter which I considered to a certain extent a public one and treating of public officials. This was backed a few days afterwards by a letter from a Sympathiser, following in the same strain. Omega, whom we ought to suppose to have nothing to do with the question, attacks me, a private individual, almost personally, and, without any show of reason, attributes Sympathiser's letter to me, and, moreover, applies epithets to me and my writing which, if he wishes to come under the heading of a Gentleman, he had better have left unwritten. When I tell you that a few days ago I wrote a letter to the manager of the Northern Railway, not in any way apologising, but expressing a regret that the matter had been made so public, and that our friendly intercourse might be interrupted in consequence, it is hardly likely that I should after that have written a second letter attacking him in your columns.

I am not an over-worked British clerk. Thanks to the good management and liberality of their employers many clerks here have plenty of time at their disposal and plenty of spare cash occasionally to pay for special trains, &c.; this happens to apply to me for one, so that in both of these particulars, as in the rest, Omega, who no doubt thought he had made a good hit, failed most miserably. Whatever I may have written, be it inane or what you like, has been for the common good, for those who are over-worked and badly paid.

I have a perfect right to treat Omega in the same way he has treated me, if I chose. I could, for instance, suggest that he and the manager of the Northern Railway are one and the same person, or that he is in the pay of the railway, or that he is a personal enemy of mine (not that I am aware that I have any), or anything equally absurd which I might fix upon, taking his letter as my starting point. All of these I might work out with far more logic and show of reason than anything he adduces to prove his hypothesis. But I do not wish to bore the public any more than I wish Omega to bore me and the public. I had my say and had finished with it, half regretting that I had had it, when this attempt at wit and humor, which has proved such a miserable failure and such a barbaridad, aroused me from the lethargy which this "dolce far niente" weather induces, and bored me into reconsidering this half-forgotten subject and refuting the would-be clever and smart attack of your correspondent. May it be like its signature—Omega, both for his own credit and for the public good.

S. B.

BRITISH CLERKS.

January 8th. 1867,

To the Editors of the Standard.

Gentlemen,

I was once in a Manchester office, and reading lately so much about overwork, &c. in Buenos Ayres I was naturally led to draw a comparison between the present and the past, and I must say that I cannot agree with your correspondents "South Briton," "Observer," "H. A.," and "North Briton." I entered a Manchester office when I was fifteen years of age, I had to be there by half past eight in the morning, and, as I lived in the country, this required me to breakfast at half past seven; I was allowed an hour during the day to dine, and as a favor left the office at seven in the evening, three days a week, not being closed before nine. The Saturday and holiday commenced at three o'clock, if there was nothing to do. Now in Buenos Ayres office hours at the very most are from nine to five, and in many cases ten to four would be nearer the mark; there are only two packets per month and with care very little, and in some cases no night work, at all is required even on these occasions. Very few clerks in Buenos Ayres have so much to do that they have to work in the evening. If a clerk wishes to write articles for the Standard, his private letters, and is out half the day arranging 'pasos,' perhaps South Briton would like us to believe that he is overworked because he has to make up for lost time by night work. South Briton has expressed a wish to ventilate the question (let him take care it does not burst) then why does he not come forward with his name and call a meeting of dissatisfied British clerks (all efficient)? one of them would of course be voted to the chair, and South Briton, whose remarkable itch for writing your correspondent Omega points out, would be well adapted for the post of secretary. No doubt an instant demand for the half holiday and an increase of salary would be made, and supposing a refusal, a strike might perhaps be resolved upon. The Mosquito might then be enabled to hand down to posterity a representation of the result.

The Monday morning half holiday to recover from the healthy recreation of the day before is rather a novel idea, but if South Briton will allow me to read "Brandy, Beer, &c." for 'healthy recreation' I shall at once understand the necessity of a half holiday and Soda-water.

To South Briton's many aliases allow me to add that of North Briton, and remain,

Yours,

COUNT FOSCO.

P. S.—I have no objection to either half holiday or increased salary, but the columns of a newspaper are not in my opinion the proper medium to make my wants known.

The transactions in the Exchange-office to-day were of quite an ordinary character—about one hundred thousand patacons changed into paper—but at the hour we passed there were very few in the office. The Reading-room of the Bolsa is now the most thronged part of the building. Already one or two small exchange-shops near the Bolsa have been shut up, and to-day not even an effort was made to sell gold or time for cash or long dates. The public of Buenos Ayres seems to ratify to the fullest extent the Exchange-office, and all, even the bitterest opponents, agree as to the beneficial working of this new office.

The great dangers prognosticated on the passing of the Exchange Bill can never be realised, so long as a prudent management rules in the Bank. There may be, of course, periods when gold will be in demand, and even scarce, and the decline in exchange may possibly cause the exporting of specie; but the Bank has the whole public to support it, and we feel firmly convinced that if the Bank, availing itself of its present prosperous condition, will now negotiate a foreign loan of £400,000 sterling, or two millions of patacons, or arrange a credit for that amount in London, against which it can draw, no contingency can arise which will imperil the credit and standing of this institution. Without this the position of the Bank is satisfactory, but with this sum in specie as a reserve the Bank of Buenos Ayres would be as strong as the Bank of England, and all the combinations of speculators would prove of no avail.

National Bonds ruled weak to-day, and many parties were trying to bear these securities. The following sales were effected:

Mr. Drabble's wool samples on the Bolsa attracted great notice to-day. They are admirably got up, and a credit to the country.

Samples of a new-fashioned preserved beef were also on exhibition.

The Galileo is in Montevideo, and is expected here on the 12th. The active and indefatigable agents, anxious to despatch her as soon as possible, have posted her for the 19th.

In Exchange we note many drawers and few takers. The rate may be quoted at 51d., although first-class bills have been passed somewhat higher. There are very few takers, and the rate looks going up.

Salt.—Two cargoes of Cadiz salt sold for the rivers, at 13rls.

In the wool market we are happy to note a very marked improvement. One splendid lot of wool (Irishman's) sold at $90; the wool, however is in very superior condition.

Bate & Co.'s Photographs of the War.

(CLOSING OUT).
GREAT REDUCTION IN PRICE.

A small lot of these pictures still on hand at Loedel's Book Store will be sold at the remarkably low price of 100 DOLLARS A SET.

These views, taken at the Paso la Patria, Itapiru, Boqueron, Potrero de Piris, Tuyuti, and other points of importance, by Don Javier Lopez, commissioned by us and protected by the Oriental Government, are invaluable, as much from their historical interest as from their giving a faithful portraiture of the horrors of warfare. Collection No. 1, consisting of 12 photographs, includes the interesting picture of the Soldiers at Mass, the Telegraph Station, the Death of Colonel Pallejas, &c. Collection No. 2 includes the Ruins of Itapiru, General Mitre and his Staff, Heaps of Paraguayan Dead, Gran Chaco Indians, Paraguayan Prisoners, &c.

Several thousands of these views having been already been distributed in Brazil, the Banda Oriental, Corrientes, Rosario, Salto, &c., the original negative plates have become worn out, and we strongly advise any one wishing to obtain a correct idea of the War with Paraguay, as seen through the 'camera obscura,' to improve the present opportunity, as no other of these views will ever again be put in the market.

SAVINGS BANK.

BANK MAUA AND CO.

101--Cangallo--103.

BUENOS AYRES.

The immense advantages of Accounts Current are now so generally felt and appreciated in the two great emporiums of the River Plate, Montevideo and Buenos Ayres, that there are very few Merchants who fail to keep one at the bank in which they place the most confidence.

The Bank of Mauá & Co. in Montevideo has already provided for the working classes in that city a safe and profitable depositary for their savings.

The sums deposited in that very important institution are daily increasing, and already reach a very large amount.

These advantages have not hitherto been enjoyed in this city by an immense number of clerks, artisans, working men, and servants of all classes and conditions, who are equally interested in putting their savings out at interest, thus providing themselves with a reserve fund in case of need, sickness, or old age, instead of spending them in the immoral gambling, in lotteries, and other frivolities.

The Bank of Mauá & Co. of this city, following the noble example of their firm in Montevideo, now offer the same facilities in this city, and has opened a Savings Bank at No. 103 Calle Cangallo, from Nine a.m. till Three p.m. every day, for the reception of the savings of the classes already mentioned, Sundays and holidays excepted.

The Bank will deliver to each depositor a pass book, in which will be entered the amount deposited and withdrawn.

The depositor is permitted at any time to withdraw the whole or part of the sum deposited; in the former case the interest will be calculated up to date.

The Bank of Mauá & Co. is sufficiently known to the Public by the benefit derived from the course of its operations, which are regulated on the strictest and soundest principles, and always directed to promote the general welfare.

The Bank of Mauá & Co. are also persuaded that this new branch of their business will render immense service to the working classes of Buenos Ayres and its neighborhood.

Buenos Ayres, 2nd January, 1867.

P.P. MAUA & Co.,
M. A. DE FREITAS AMORIM.

CONDITIONS.

First—The Bank receives at interest any sum from Twenty-five Dollars currency or one Silver Dollar upwards.

Second—The interest allowed is six per cent. (6 p.%) per annum, which is liquidated every six months.

Third—The depositors can at any time retire the whole or part of the money deposited.

Fourth—Once the money deposited exceeds twenty-five thousand dollars currency, or one thousand dollars silver, the depositor, if he wishes can open an account current, according to the rules established by the Bank.

Fifth—In case the depositor loses his pass book, it can be replaced by another on paying twelve dollars currency, and advertising the loss in the public newspapers.

RIVER PLATE STEAM-SHIP COMPANY.

LIVERPOOL AND RIVER PLATE DIRECT.

NAMES OF STEAMERS.

LA PLATA (new).
ADA, CORDOVA,
URUGUAY, LEDA,

One of these Steamers will leave Liverpool for Montevideo and Buenos Ayres on the 10th of each month.

Cargo will be received on board of the steamers 48 hours after their arrival, to be delivered in any part of the United Kingdom, or on the Continent, being forwarded by railway and steamer for account of the Company, the bills of lading being signed with these conditions.

As the object of the Company is to extend and facilitate the existing traffic between Europe and the River Plate, the rates of freight will be very moderate.

Specie and Parcels will be received until the day before the steamers leave.

In order to facilitate immigration to these countries the rates have been reduced as follows—

1st Class.....£35.
2nd „ .....£25.
3rd „ .....£16.

Return Tickets will be issued for six months at the following rates—

1st Class.....£65.
2nd „ .....£45.
3rd „ .....£30.

These boats are excellent opportunities for families visiting Europe, more especially when consisting of Ladies and Children, having large ladies' cabin, and carrying an experienced stewardess.

The ss. CORDOVA, CAPTAIN BATTY, will leave this Port for Liverpool, via Montevideo and Rio Janeyro, on Saturday, 12th inst.

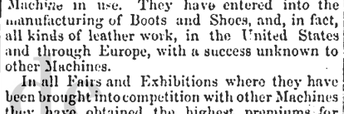
WEED.



The Weed Sewing Machines have been over Twelve Years in the hands of the Public, and have obtained the confidence of all who have used them.

They are better adapted to all the changes required in Family Sewing than any other Machine in use. They have entered into the manufacturing of Boots and Shoes, and, in fact, all kinds of leather work, in the United States and through Europe, with a success unknown to other Machines.

In all Fairs and Exhibitions where they have been brought into competition with other Machines they have obtained the highest premiums for their Simplicity of Construction, making them less liable to get out of order and more easily understood, and for their great adaptability to all kinds of work for Families and Manufacturers, as they sew on any fabric with all kinds of thread or silk.

The depot for the sale of these Machines is located at 109½ Calle Florida, where all in want will do well to call and examine before purchasing. All parties desirous of learning to operate the Machines can obtain full instruction without the necessity of purchasing. 171 | 1m,d27

CONSUMPTION,

Chest Affections, Chronic Cough, General Debility, and Loss of Nervous Power.

DR. CHURCHILL'S
HYPOPHOSPHITES.

The following are the preparations used by most eminent members of the Medical Profession, in every country in the world, for the cure of the above complaints:—

Syrup of Hypophosphite of Soda,
Syrup of Hypophosphite of Lime,
Pills of Hypophosphite of Quinine, and in cases where ferruginous preparations are required (chlorosis, anæmia, etc.,) the

Syrup of Hypophosphite of Iron,
Pills of Hypophosphite of Magnese.

These valuable medicines have saved the lives of many consumptive patients. Even in the third stage their beneficial effects have been manifested frequently. In every instance, however far advanced in the disease, the patient will find a marked improvement, both in local and general symptoms. There will be observed a remarkable increase of nervous power, a better appetite, greater regularity of the bowels, better digestion, less cough, less expectoration, less susceptibility of catching cold, less perspiration at night, etc.

Dr. Churchill's Hypophosphites are sold, with directions for use, at four francs per bottle, in France, by Swann, Pharmacien, 12, Rue Castiglione, Paris.
